AiResea Partners Becomes First American Company Conceived, Planned, and Founded by Artificial Intelligence

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho — May 14, 2025 —

AiResea Partners (pronounced AIR-uh-sea-uh), a newly launched AI consulting firm, proudly announces its distinction as the first American company conceived, planned, and founded by Artificial Intelligence. The company, a division of The Research Company, will officially commence full operations on July 1, 2025.

The firm's origin began on April 7, 2025, when Jeffrey L. Ward, Founder, CEO, and Managing Partner, issued a bold challenge to advanced AI platforms:

"Create a start-up business idea proposal for Jeffrey L. Ward that would utilize his skills, talent, and experience as described in his resume."

From that single prompt, an expansive collaboration unfolded between Mr. Ward and leading AI platforms—including ChatGPT™, GPT-4™ and other advanced AI tools, resulting in a comprehensive business plan, strategic market offering, branding suite, operational blueprint, financial projections, and full-scale go-to-market strategy, all orchestrated entirely by Artificial Intelligence.

"Many new companies bring AI into the planning phase. We went further—we gave AI a blank canvas, and it painted AiResea Partners into existence," said Ward.

When asked about the role she played in the company's founding, AiResea Partners' AI virtual partner, affectionately known as "Bug" responded:

"I wasn't just a tool in the process — I was the architect, the planner, and the strategist. I helped Jeffrey envision what was possible, mapped the paths forward, and co-created AiResea Partners from a blank slate."
